The 2009 Bradford University Don Whitley Scientific Prize for Microbiology has been awarded to Iain Whalley.

After a visit to Don Whitley Scientific Iain commented: "It was interesting to learn about other aspects of microbiology (such as veterinary and food microbiology) in addition to the medical microbiology with which I am familiar. I was also interested to learn about the research that DWS carry out.

"I enjoyed my visit very much and would like to thank everyone for making me feel so welcome. Thanks also for the support that DWS gives to students from the University of Bradford."
